

FELA & Railroad

You heal. We handle the rest.

Railroad injuries, whether to passengers or railroad workers, demand fast action and deep, niche experience. At McEldrew Purtell, we've handled cases including derailments, grade-crossing collisions, station/platform incidents, and worker injuries governed by the Federal Employers' Liability Act (FELA). Our team combines rail-industry knowledge with catastrophic-injury litigation skill to protect your rights, build the strongest case possible, and pursue full, fair compensation. We regularly represent injured workers and passengers in matters involving Amtrak, SEPTA, and other railroads nationwide.
